Her mammy lied and her pappy too
Asked for the truth and she lied too

Who done it? Who done it?
Ain't no use in you lying, I know that you know

*Say, Joe, hear that little cat playing the clarinet? His name is Odell.
Ask him — maybe he can tell you who done it.*

When I was hers, I was hers and a fool
I didn't do it when I could

Odell, who done it? (I don't know!) Who done it? (Joe, I don't know)
Ain't no use in you lying, I know that you know

*Well that's one little cat you couldn't get nothing out of.
There's another little old short cat, by the name of Horace, playing the piano.
Ask him — maybe he can tell you who done it.*

I didn't know she was running about
When I found her she was sticking out

Horace, who done it? (I don't know!) Who done it? (I don't know)
Ain't no use in you lying, I know that you know

*There's another cat playing the guitar. Charlie — your own brother.
Ask him, ????. He outta could tell you who done it.*

One thing's certain, you must understand
It wasn't me it was another man

Charlie, who done it? (I don't know) Who done it? (I done told you I don't know)
Ain't no use in you lying, I know that you know

Now listen, Joe, you're better known as Oh Red. But me, Kid Morand, don't know nothing about what you said.

Who done it? (We don't know!) Who done it? (We don't know!)
Ain't no use in you lying, I know that you know
